The image is a detailed architectural site plan for the 'Maison de la Culture' in Paris. The central feature is a large, complex building footprint with multiple wings and internal courtyards. The building is surrounded by a network of streets: 'RUE DU 19 Mars 1962' to the north, 'RUE HENRI BARBUSSE' to the south, and 'RUE' to the west. The plan is overlaid with a dense network of colored lines representing various utilities: red lines for water supply, green lines for sewerage, and blue lines for electricity. Numerous markers are placed throughout the site, including 'E.P.' (Eau Potable) and 'E.U.' (Eau Usée) points, and 'L.P.' (Ligne d'Éclairage Public) markers. A compass rose in the top right corner indicates the orientation, with North (N) at the top. The plan also shows various trees and landscaping elements around the building and along the streets.
